Who is the Course for?

The course is aimed at individuals wishing to explore various disciplines within Fine Art to further progress into the professional industry or continue with further education at an advance level at FAD International or at another academic institution.

Course Description

The one year intensive course allows students to develop their individual thought process whilst learning skills through guided learning, research and practical application.

In the first term students work towards ideas generation and development of their ideas and further engage with modules such as visual research, contextual studies and cultural studies. Students get a comprehensive learning on Fine Art and various mediums of expression. The students engage with modules in Fine Art Painting, Sculpting, Printmaking, Photography, Mixed Media apart from technical modules such as drawing and techniques in Fine Art.

In term two students can specialize in various art forms such as painting, sculpting, digital art, graphic design, mixed media, photography and film studies thus enabling to develop a strong portfolio of creative works.

The course also looks at contemporary issues in fine art and allows students to learn through research and studio based activities.

Students develop their individual style throughout the course with assignments and workshops and have opportunities to present several art exhibits or work on professional projects to enable them to progress into the industry or on higher education.
